Dear Karen:

I am sorry we were not able to get together during the National Restaurant Show in Chicago. Unfortunately, my hectic schedule got even more hectic. I think we must have traded at least 200 voice mail messages!

As I mentioned during our telephone conversations, I would be interested in possibly using your situation to develop a case study. On my next trip to Chicago, I will plan better and block out some time for us to get together if you are still interested.

The book is now completed, and I have enclosed a copy for you. As you will see if you look on page 6, your letter has been included so your advice will benefit all the readers.

I greatly appreciate your taking the time to write, and I hope you enjoy the book. If you have any comments or suggestion, I would appreciate hearing from you.

Good luck with Cafe Borgia, and please do not hesitate to contact me if I can ever be of assistance.

Warm regards.

Sincerely,

Peter Rainsford
